CFTC Docket No. 08-R045

OPINION AND ORDER

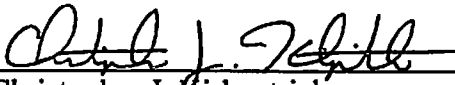

This matter comes to us after remand proceedings necessitated by our July 1, 2013 Opinion and Order for limited further discovery. Upon review of the Judgment Officer's September 10, 2014 Initial Decision on Remand in this matter, the record below, and the briefs on appeal post-remand, we agree that the expanded evidentiary record on remand did not establish any evidence of bad faith by Respondents or establish a basis to disturb the credibility determinations of the Judgment Officer. Therefore, and for the reasons set forth in our July 1, 2013 Opinion and Order, we AFFIRM the Judgment Officer's judgment in favor of Respondents.

IT IS SO ORDERED.¹

¹ Under Section 14(e) of the Commodity Exchange Act, 7 U.S.C. § 18(e), a party may appeal a reparation order of the Commission in accordance with the procedures of 7 U.S.C. § 9. An appeal must be filed within 15 days after notice of the Commission order. 7 U.S.C. § 9(11)(B)(ii).

By the Commission (Chairman MASSAD and Commissioners WETJEN, BOWEN, and GIANCARLO).

Christopher J. Kirkpatrick
Secretary of the Commission
