Dear Commissioners Shapiro and Gensler:

Don't let the American Bankers Association (ABA) redefine important terms like "commercial risk" to keep banks that engage in risky derivatives trading from complying with transparency and business conduct requirements.

2) Commodities Futures Trading Commission, Re: Position Limits (RIN 3038-AD17 )

Dear Commissioner Gensler:

The CFTC needs to set strong position limits to crack down on the energy and food commodity speculation that serves no productive purpose. I urge the Commission to define limits that will address not only manipulation, but also excessive speculation, which will require a stricter approach.

Dear Secretary Geithner:

Just say "no" to foreign exchange traders who want to exempt foreign currency derivatives from the clearing and transparency requirements of the

Dodd-Frank Act.
